House Rushes Foreign Aid Bill To Passage in Record Time at Capital

Senate Gets Measure For $1,353,024,900 To Finance Nation's Foreign Policy

By ALEX H. SINGLETON

Washington, July 19 (AP)—

Spurred by alarm over strife in Greece and a widening split between Russia and the western powers, the House shoved along to the Senate today a $1,003,199,094 appropriations measure carrying $1,353,024,900 to finance this nation's foreign policy.

House passage came last night by voice vote in just an hour's time—perhaps a penultimate record for a measure of its magnitude and international implication—amid cries for halting aid to countries under Russian domination.

Assurance that such a ban is intended came from Chairman Taft (R.-N.Y.) of the House Appropriations Committee, speaking against the background of testimony—some secret, some public—from high ranking army and diplomatic chiefs.

He told the House that aid will be denied to countries that will be denied to countries ideologically and economically associated with the Soviet Union "unless they turn over a new leaf and show that they are willing to cooperate with nations which believe in freedom."

The foreign funds included the $400,000,000 previously authorized to bolster Greece and Turkey against Communism; $332,000,000 for foreign relief; $550,000,000 to pay the costs of the army's relief program in Germany, Korea and Japan; and $71,024,900 for the United States share in the International Refugee Organization.

Consideration of the Omnibus Aid Measure came in the midst of several developments bearing directly on the administration's present foreign policy program and upon future diplomatic moves in which Congress will have a powerful voice.

They include:

1. A decision by a House judiciary subcommittee to place a hole until next year a measure which would authorize immigration of 400,000 European war refugees over a four-year period. Instead, House and Senate committees will study the problem, this fall.

2. Approval by the House rules committee on Page Five

Cut 30,000 Cars

G.M. Plants Will Close 5 Days to July 28th; Sheet Steel Short

Detroit, July 19 (AP)—The stop-and-go nature of the automobile industry's postwar operations is being emphasized again with the shutting down of virtually all General Motors passenger car assembly lines for five working days. The plants will be closed next week because GM officials declared, of inadequate inventories of sheet steel. They will reopen July 28.

The closing of the Buick, Chevrolet, Cadillac, Oldsmobile and Pontiac plants next week will cut approximately 30,000 passenger cars from the week's total production.

Elsewhere in the industry the sheet steel supply situation still is holding output to around 65 per cent of capacity. Any improvement in steel stocks, say industry authorities, is unlikely before the end of August or mid-September.

Senate Failure to Override Tax Veto Promises Campaign Issue for 1948; Voters Will Now Decide Who Was Right

Labor Newspaper for Area To Be Published Here by George Yerry

A new corporation, The Hudson Valley Labor News Inc., whose purpose is to publish a newspaper in the interests of labor groups in the region, was formed recently, it was learned from George E. Yerry, Jr., business agent of the Kingston Metal Trades Council.

First issue of the paper, which is to be tabloid size, is tentatively slated for Labor Day, the labor leader said.

The paper is to be privately owned enterprise, he explained, and will be devoted to the interests of all labor groups regardless of whether they are affiliated or independent unions.

Papers were filed with the office of the secretary of the state July 10. They named De Witt Quick, Hilda W. Yerry and George Yerry as members of the corporation and Mr. Yerry as president, Mrs. Yerry as secretary-treasurer and Mr. Quick as vice-president.

The paper is to be printed in Kingston and will have its office at 277 Fair street. It will publish labor news from the Hudson, Newburgh, Poughkeepsie and Kingston areas and at first will be published twice monthly, and will ultimately become a weekly.

Both the national and state units of the American Federation of Labor will supply news of interest to labor and other labor groups will be sources of information.

The point was stressed by the new corporation that it was not started because of a lack of a co-operative labor press locally, but more for the purpose of specialized labor coverage.

The filing of papers of incorporation followed hearings at Albany before the Bureau of Labor Standards, and it was reported that the state labor department gave its fullest cooperation.

As a privately owned enterprise it will carry comment on political trends and policies as well as general labor news. It was reported that the general feeling among labor groups in the region to be served by the paper, that they are welcoming the opportunity to have a paper serving their interests.

The corporation also stressed the point that the paper will in no way invade the field of regularly published newspapers in the region, nor is it to be considered in competition with them.

New Yorker Hurt Near Port Ewen

Emanuel Rodriguez Is Hospitalized After Car Overturns

Emanuel Rodriguez of New York city was injured this morning and taken to the Benedictine Hospital by the Conner ambulance for treatment of minor injuries following an accident near the junction of Route 9-W and the Port Ewen station road south of Port Ewen. Celso Fernandez, 63, brother-in-law of Rodriguez, riding in the car was not injured.

Troopers from the Lake Katrine and Highland stations investigated. Trooper Johnson reported the car was traveling north on Route 9-W when the operator observed a car approaching from the side road. In endeavoring to stop or avoid the car, Rodriguez lost control of his car which went to the west of the road in the ditch and continuing on struck a tree. The car allegedly turned over four times before coming to a rest on its top.

Rodriguez was reported to have been en route to Phoenixia at the time. He suffered cuts and bruises about the face, arm and hands.

Prospects for Tax Reductions at This Session Dies With Backers 5 Short

House Overrides

Actual Test Was Lively Political Show

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

Washington, July 19 (AP)—Failure of the Senate to override President Truman's veto of the G.O.P. tax-cutting bill tossed the issue into the 1948 political campaign today. Both sides expressed willingness to let the voters decide who was right.

Prospects for tax reductions at this session of Congress died last night when backers of the bill marshaled only 57 Senate votes against 36 supporters of the President—five short of the necessary two-thirds majority.

Earlier the House had voted to override with 27 votes to spare 299 to 108.

"I'm not 'unhappy,'" Senator Millikin (R.-Colo.), floor manager for the bill, told reporters. "There are 49,000,000 taxpayers who would have had some relief except for two vetoes by a Democratic President and administration."

House Majority Leader Halleck said tax relief apparently must wait "until the country elects a Republican president next year who will cooperate with a Republican Congress."

Rep.-Rayburn of Texas, the House Democratic leader, already had accepted the challenge. "If the Republicans want to throw this kind of tax bill into the campaign," he said, "we'll welcome the issue."

Although the Senate failure to override the veto was foreboding by its 60 to 32 vote on passage last week—which was less than the necessary two-thirds—the actual test was a lively political show.

Galleries were packed as the bill reached the Senate and House members crowded in the back of the chamber.

Millikin, bald and deep-voiced, made a point-by-point reply to the presidential veto which termed the "tax cut the 'wrong kind' at the 'wrong time,' 'unsound and unsafe,' and 'premature and faulty.'"

Senator Taylor (D.-Idaho) pointed out that the President had promised lower taxes at the "proper time."

"The people can't eat proper food," Millikin shot back.

Democratic Leader Barkley of Kentucky warned of a possible "blow up in Europe" and said it would be wise to have some surplus funds available.

Then Senator Tydings (D.-Md.), who had voted for the bill when the Senate passed it Monday, rose to announce that he would support the veto.

He said that small nations near Soviet Russia are "under fear and direction of Moscow" and that he favored heading a "gun behind the door" in the form of some extra cash in the treasury.

When the roll was called one other Democrat, Unstead of North Carolina, and one Republican, Aiken of Vermont, joined Tydings in reversing earlier votes for the bill.

The presidential forces picked

Washington, July 19 (AP)—An Interstate Commerce Commission examiner has recommended that the commission permit 14 major railroads in the east to hike their commutation fares 15 to 25 per cent.

The recommendation was made in a report to the commission yesterday by Examiner Burton F. Fuller. The commission has yet to act on the matter.

Fuller proposed that the carriers be permitted to make increases on commutation and other multiple tickets effective on five days' notice. The proposed increases would affect every major metropolitan center in the east.

"The railroads requested the fare hikes on the basis of higher operating costs, a case of rising prices in which they recently won basic passenger fare increases of 10 per cent. The commutation fares were made a separate case by the commission."

Fuller generally recommended about what the carriers asked except that in many cases he suggested that the application of the two types of monthly tickets, one for unrestricted use and the other for use on Saturdays, Sundays or holidays, in recognition of the five-day week.

The lines asking the changes are the New Haven railroad, New York Central and its subsidiaries, Eastern and Albany and Pittsburgh and Lake Erie, Lehigh Valley, the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, the Erie, the New York, Susquehanna and Western, Jersey Central, Long Island Railroad Co., Reading Co., Pennsylvania-Reading Seashore Lines, Baltimore and Ohio, Chicago South Shore and South Bend, and Boston and Maine.

Workmen Link Ends In East River Tunnel

New York, July 19 (AP)—After almost five years of burrowing, gangs of sandhogs from Brooklyn and Manhattan burst through a wall of mud in the middle of the East River tunnel, linking both ends of the 1,000-foot Brooklyn-Battery tunnel.

It will take until the spring of 1949 before the tube construction is completed and the approaches ready for use.

When completed the tunnel will be the longest under ground highway in America, measuring 9,117 feet—portal to portal—with an annual capacity of 16,000 cars and trucks.

Work was begun in 1940 and resumed in 1945.

Safety Tip

Did you have eggs for breakfast? Lots of people have eggs taste good, they're good for you and besides, they're quick to prepare when you're late for work and time is precious.

Lives are precious, too. In the three minutes or so while your breakfast eggs were boiling, at least two pedestrians were killed or injured somewhere on the nation's highways—or maybe in your community. While you were eating, another ten or more met with disaster.

Chances are 3 to 1 those victims were in a hurry—they took the short way across the middle of the block, instead of the safe way at the crosswalk. They stepped out suddenly from behind a parked car, instead of looking both ways to see if the road was clear, or waiting until the traffic light turned green.

National Conservation Bureau safety specialists report that impatient drivers are the nation's Number One highway killer. Time is precious—sure! But not enough to pay for it with a life.

June Building Is High

Chicago, July 19 (AP)—The nation's housing program—starting and completing of homes—reached a new 20-year high in June, Charles J. Moran, regional housing director in Chicago, said today.

There were 358,000 permanent houses started in the first six months this year, Moran said, the highest total since the middle twenties and surpassed the 1946 total by approximately 18,700 units. He said about 75,000 new permanent houses were started in June, compared with approximately 60,000 in June, 1946 and 72,500 last May.

Oldest Member of Community Band Has Long Career; Solo Horn Players Tell Experiences

On the band stand Sunday night with the Kingston Community Band is a musician who has literally played from New York City to Albany, Irving Wood of 73 Brewster street, trumpet soloist and oldest member of the local band, has played with so many groups and parades that he can't begin to name them all. He still insists he is only 39 years of age. The band under the direction of Sal Castiglione plays each Sunday night during the summer months alternating between the Academy Green and Hilsbrouck Park. Tomorrow night the band will play at the Academy Green starting at 8 p. m. In case of rain the concert is held in the municipal auditorium.

In Fulton Event
Mr. Wood participated in the Hudson Fulton Celebration 1912 when he started with the band in New York City and proceeded in the celebration ending the tour of the valley at Academy of Music in Albany.

He played for a number of years in the old Kingston Point Band, popular with so many Kingston folk around the First World War years. Among the other local units in which he played are the Kingston Opera House where he performed on both trumpet and piano; Kenezy's band; Orchestra; First George Muller's Band; church services at First Dutch Reformed Church and in many parades.

He has also been a member of Vollmer's Band, Middletown; Noeller's Band, Troy; Gartland's Band, Albany; Collins and Orton's bands, Newburgh; Walden Band; and at theatres in Poughkeepsie, Academy of Music in Newburgh. He has also been associated with the general music director of the Fox Theatres in Norfolk, Va., and marched in many Masonic and fraternal parades throughout the valley.

Members of the first American Legion Drum Corps and Port Ewen Five and Drum Corps will remember Mr. Wood as the instructor who arranged the music and with the use of blackboards and much patience taught the groups the rudiments of a good corps.

Asked when this musical career started, Mr. Wood replied "Oh, when I was five or six years old. I started learning to play the piano and later began studying the trumpet."

Still attempting to find out how long Mr. Wood had been playing the interviewer asked "How long ago was that?"

"Thirty-four years. You know I'm only 39," was the reply. Solo instruments in the band are all important and another popular one is the solo clarinet played in the local band by Louis Arace, 19

Henry street. As a youngster he started playing in the Kingston Point Band and later played with the Kingston High School Band. Continuing his study of the clarinet with Sosome he also became interested in the saxophone.

During the war his music was most valuable when he was voted to direct an Army Air Corps orchestra at Abilene, Tex., and Lajunta, Colo. The unit of 14 pieces played almost every night in the week accompanying U. S. O. and bond shows, playing for officers' clubs and non-com dances. In this he played both clarinet and saxophone.

Music as a hobby for him has grown into almost a vocation. Associated in the Arace Brothers Store, he assists in the music department there and at nights he plays with the Columbians, currently at the Rose Marie Cabins.

Solo French Horn
The solo French horn in the community band played by Hollis Burhans, 156 Pearl street, who has been with the band under Mr. Castiglione since its formation four years ago. His is a musical background with a mother who taught piano and a father who taught saxophone.

Piano was his first instrument which he believes gives a vital background for further music study.

"My father only had seven saxophones around, so I took up one of those next," Mr. Burhans recalled. Then he heard the French horn on the radio and immediately liked its tone and quality better than any other. He also played the alto horn but the French is still his favorite.

Mr. Burhans also plays solo French horn with the Dutchess County Philharmonic Orchestra under the direction of Ole Windstad.

Saxophone
Probably the most popular section of the band is the young people is the percussion group. Edward Greco, who heads this section for Mr. Castiglione, verifies this feeling when telling why he studied the drums. "When you're very young, what instrument appeals to you? It's the drum, the rhythm."

And often he had the opportunity to be thrilled with the roll of the drum in the band for his father, Ernest Greco, who was director of the Convention City Band.

Mr. Greco studied with Robert McCue for three years prior to entering service. His hobby also proved helpful in military career for he was chosen as a member of the 72nd Army Air Forces Band stationed at Oklahoma City for three years.

Band Personnel
Other members of the band and the instruments they play include: Virgil Winchell, cello; Anthony Kwasiak, Frank Domanico, John Mayone, Thomas Turk, Harry Wienroek, William Conerty, clarinet; Ernie Shae, James Macalino, Harry Dall, Frank Tiano, Bud Deyo, trumpets; William Studering, Frank Castiglione, Irving Dierman, trombones; Treadwell Wilson, baritone; Thomas F. Carpio, Paul Terpening, basses; William Paulus, snare drum; Sam Castiglione, bass drum.

The program tomorrow night will be National Emblem march, Bagley; Alda Overture, McCaughy; Officer of the Day March, Hall; Wedding of the Winds, concert waltz, Hall; Our Director March, Bigelow; The Bridal Rose overture, Lavallee; General Pershing March, Vanlister; Zampa Overture, Harold; Banner of Democracy March, Hayes.

Engagement Announced
James Marabell of Glasco announces the engagement of his daughter, Miss Stella Marabell, to Mark Fusco of Mechanicville. The wedding will take place in the near future.

"Idomeneo", Mozart Opera, to Receive American Performance

"Idomeneo", often described as one of the greatest operas by Mozart, but hitherto unheard in this country, will be produced at Tanglewood, in the Berkshire Hills of western Massachusetts. The opera is being prepared by the Berkshire Music Center, the school of the Boston Symphony Orchestra in this the orchestra's summer home at Lenox where the Berkshire Festival, conducted by Serge Koussevitzky, will still be in progress. Boris Goldovsky, head of the opera department at the Berkshire Music Center will direct and conduct the performance. The music scene will be by Richard Ryehtarik.

The opera will be performed twice in the Theatre-Concert Hall at Tanglewood, on Monday and Wednesday evenings August 4 and 6. Admission will be by invitation to the Friends of the Berkshire Music Center.

Mozart wrote his "Idomeneo, King of Crete" in 1780, for the Court Opera in Munich, in his 24th year. It is, in the opinion of Mozart authorities, his greatest "Opera Seria" or classical grand opera, and this opinion is borne out by Mozart's devotion to his task and his pride in the result as explained in his letters to his father at that time.

Difficulties which have stood in the way of performances of "Idomeneo" are the length and involved character of the libretto, and the absence of printed parts, which have never been published (the engraved plates of the full score were destroyed in the bombing of Leipzig). "Idomeneo" has been performed in Central Europe on several occasions, and twice recently edited for such performances by Wolf-Ferrari and by Richard Strauss. These difficulties will be met in Tanglewood by the copying of the complete parts, and by the editing of the score for practical uses by Boris Goldovsky, the director of the Opera Department of the Berkshire Music Center. Mr. Goldovsky has brought the opera to performable length by omitting extraneous subplots in the original text of the Abbe Varesco, shortening the recitatives and re-ordering scenes for the sake of dramatic continuity. In doing this he has scrupulously respected Mozart's score.

Idomeneo, the King of Crete, returning from the Trojan Wars, according to Greek legend, narrowly escapes shipwreck, and in gratitude to the god Neptune promises to sacrifice the first person whom he shall meet on the shore of Crete. That person proves to be his son, Idamante. In dismay the king tries to send Idamante away from the island to safety, but the gods proclaim that Idomeneo shall abdicate, and Idamante and his bride Ila shall reign in his stead.

Prize Raincoat

New York (NEA) — "The sporty raincoat above of un-gloomy yellow cotton duck-cloth won a prize for home-sewer Lucinda Calenda, 23-year-old New Yorker."

What caught the judges' fancy in local preliminaries of the national sewing contest was the small expenditure of money and large amount of good styling that went into this unlined swaggar. The coat cost $10 to make, won Lucinda a $75 cash prize. Is it water-proofed? It will be when the young prize-winner dunks it in an emulsion of wax and aluminum salts, inexpensively packaged for home use. Diluted in warm water, this makes a water-proofing bath that gives a renewable finish to a coat that will keep its owner dry.

Baran Warns About Damage by Aphids

Noting that potato aphids and other species of this insect that live by sucking the juices of plants are showing up in many tomato plantings in the county, Walter Baran, assistant county agricultural agent, warned this morning that severe injury will result when these insects build up.

He stressed that as soon as the presence of aphids is discovered, the plants should be sprayed immediately with a .25 per cent D.T. emulsion with one per cent Rotenone in a quart mixture added to 100 gallons of water.

Baran mentioned that a three per cent D.T. dust fortified with three-fourths of one per cent Rotenone, applied at about 40 to 50 pounds per acre will also prove effective.

Nicotine sulphate, he said, may also be used, but will not be as effective as the aforementioned formulas when used as high as one quart per 100 gallons of water.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JULY 19, 1947

FUTURE TAX BURDENS

Protests over the increased school tax rate here reflect the concern of local home owners. During the past five years the school tax rate has jumped from $9.28 per thousand valuation to the present high mark of $22.44.

With mandatory increments for teachers in the coming years on top of the present increased wage scale, the school tax rate will reach higher levels.

Add to this the proposed construction program of the Board of Education, which includes the cost of sites, plus the architects' fees and the cost of bus transportation in addition to the actual buildings and we can readily see the reason for deep concern upon the part of the local home owners.

Just how high the taxes will go under this program is anybody's guess.

On June 22, 1945, The Freeman editorially called attention to future local tax burdens and suggested a referendum. At that time the prospects of a combined tax rate of $70 or $80 a thousand valuation were seen. This figure now appears to be conservative.

We again remind the members of the Common Council that the taxpayers pay the bill and that they are entitled to a voice.

Serious consideration should be given the question of ability to pay.

ROAD TO THE PRESIDENCY

Secretary of the Interior Julius Krug has presidential aspirations, according to Walter Winchell. If so, past history suggests that he is not occupying the post best qualified to favor them. Six Secretaries of State have become President: Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, John Quincy Adams, Van Buren and Buchanan. Three Presidents were once Secretary of War, but two of them, Monroe and Grant, only incidentally so during a career of service in many other fields. William Howard Taft is the only long-term Secretary of War to win promotion to the White House.

Of the other eight cabinet posts only one has been held by a future President: Herbert Hoover, whose years as Secretary of Commerce were helpful in winning him the necessary public esteem. All other cabinet officers were dead-enders as far as advancement to the Presidency was concerned.

Secretary Krug may take warning from this. Or he may figure that the precedents were equally against Hoover, and yet he became President.

BACK TO CIVILIAN LIFE

The Navy, the Army and the F.B.I. are losing many of their best young officers, says Paul Leach, a Washington correspondent.

More are leaving the Navy than the other branches, because of reduced appropriations and the unification bill which is now being considered. Officers may not resign until two years after graduation from the Academy, and many are leaving as soon as their time is up. Many others are capable, experienced officers with excellent war records, a great loss to the service. Administrative officers say that large salaries offered by industrial firms to these highly trained young men make it impossible for Uncle Sam to compete. A chance for a normal home life is a drawing card, too, because much of a Navy man's life is spent at sea.

Patriotism, the driving force of these officers during wartime, lies dormant in peacetime. A man's duty to his country is not uppermost in his mind under normal conditions. His own and his family's welfare comes to the fore as soon as the emergency is over. When the country is not in need of active defense, there is an irresistible trend toward constructive activity on the part of the young men.

VOTES AND PROSPERITY

Voting is popularly supposed to follow the dictates of the pocketbook. Prosperity means support of the administration lucky enough to be in power. Hard times bring about anti-administration votes. Thus the panics of 1873 and 1893 were disastrous to the Republican administration in the first case, and to the Democratic in the second. The depression of 1929 proved fatal to the long estab-

FRIGHTENED ATOMS

Some time ago I received a letter from Albert Einstein addressed to me as "Dear Friend." I had only met Dr. Einstein once, in Shanghai, in a crowd of a hundred or more men and women and I had seen him since on one other occasion, at Carnegie Hall, when he was on the stage and I was in a full-house audience. So I was highly hooped when he addressed me as "Dear Friend." But when he said that a group of atomic splitters needed $1,000,000 for a "great educational task," I felt that the friendship came high.

After the atom was split, all sorts of committees appeared to frighten the life out of the American people. One of the statements they all made was that the Russians had or would soon have, or would in two or three or five years have the atom bomb with which to blow us up. Their general solution was to give the bomb to the Russians through the United Nations and then the Russians would not blow us up.

As that seemed to be Alice-in-Wonderlandish, this country paid no attention to the scientists and kept the bomb. Meanwhile, the Russians has been trying to steal the bomb, apparently with little success. So we stockpile bombs; the Russians criticize us; the scientists organize more committees. Professor Einstein, in his letter, which I shall cherish for the autograph, wrote:

"Through the release of atomic energy, our generation has brought into the world the most revolutionary force since prehistoric man's discovery of fire. This basic power of the universe cannot be about into the outmoded concept of narrow nationalisms."

Now, it is just too bad about that "narrow nationalism." Those of us who were born in this country, educated in its schools, taught to love its flag and sworn to maintain its Constitution, are quite willing to be accused of "narrow nationalism." We love the United States of America and 4,000,000 were drafted into the army and navy for this recent unnecessary war because they were Americans—narrow nationalists. No American went to war for One World, for the United Nations, or for the Russian Empire. A few Communists might have done that but no American will regard a Communist as an American.

Maybe Professor Einstein cannot understand that kind of sentimentality. Citizenship has been lightly changeable with him by force of circumstances. He has been a German, a Swiss, and an American in one lifetime. Nationalism is a matter of roots; the more deeply one's roots are in the soil of his nation, the more sentimental he is bound to be about nationalism. This can be a Soviet citizen and the head of Yugoslavia; no one can lead the American people who is capable of such dual nationality, for Americans love America.

Maybe they are narrow-minded. Maybe, they are chauvinistic. Maybe their eyes are closed to the glories of One World dominated by Stalin, Tito, Dimitroff and their associates. Maybe they would be smarter if they let the United Nations run this country with Gromyko instead of Harry Truman exercising the veto.

But Professor, dumb or smart, nobody could get elected dog-catcher who appealed to the American voter on that program. No sir, I won't give a cent to your Emergency Committee of Citizens for Science. They can send me an autographed letter with the salutation, "Dear Friend." I am a narrow nationalist and expect to remain one in spite of the scientists. Most Americans are narrow nationalists and atom splitting has not changed them at all.

We have that atom bomb. For better or for worse we mean to keep it. Possibly the Russians or some other country may steal our property; they might invent their own, even improve upon ours; maybe some day we shall have to use that bomb again. No American wants it used again. No American wants war. But no American wants his country to pay blackmail for peace. And we shall not be blackmailed as long as we can defend ourselves.

I hope the Professor understands why I did not send a contribution to that million dollar fund he is raising against narrow nationalism. (Copyright, 1947, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

TREATING MIND AND BODY AT ONE TIME

Until recently if a patient, known to be overly nervous or neurotic, telephoned the busy physician's office found it difficult to get an appointment and when he or she did have the consultation, it was usually a short one. It was only natural that a man or woman whom the physician knows has no organic trouble or if organic is not dangerous, should not be allowed to take up the time of the busy physician even if she pays well for it.

Even after World War I, I found it difficult to persuade medical boards that the war had done more to the soldier than just cause a slight or serious wound, that it had damaged his morale which needed more than a pension to raise it back to normal. Fortunately, one thing arising from World War I, is that the effect of the war on the emotional stability of the returned man or woman is now carefully considered and treatment directed to both the emotional and physical conditions present. This is called psychosomatic medicine—mind and body treatment.

In the Medical Clinics of North America Dr. Marion J. Dakin, Assistant in Medicine, University of Chicago, School of Medicine, points out that all of us, under mild conditions as compared to war, are affected in body when our mind is upset. "Who has ever made his first platform appearance, or feared discovery of a misdemeanor without a dry mouth, sweating palms, trembling fingers and a rapid pulse? Severe loss of appetite and frequent desire to urinate, diarrhoea or constipation are all familiar symptoms at 'exam' time. And where depressing or anxiety symptoms are present 'all the time' they are bound to affect the workings of the various processes of the body."

Today the physician appreciates the nervousness and the emotional condition present in the patient, and instead of telling him or her that their symptoms are imaginary, as was formerly done, carefully examines the patient, and, finding no organic disease present, does not deny that the symptoms are present, but points out how the upsetment of the emotions causes upsetment of the various organs—heart, lungs, stomach, intestines, kidneys, liver, and other organs.

Also, instead of sending all these cases whose symptoms are caused by the emotions, to the psychiatrist or mental specialist, the family physician, by some systematic approach to the case, can often bring about the cure.

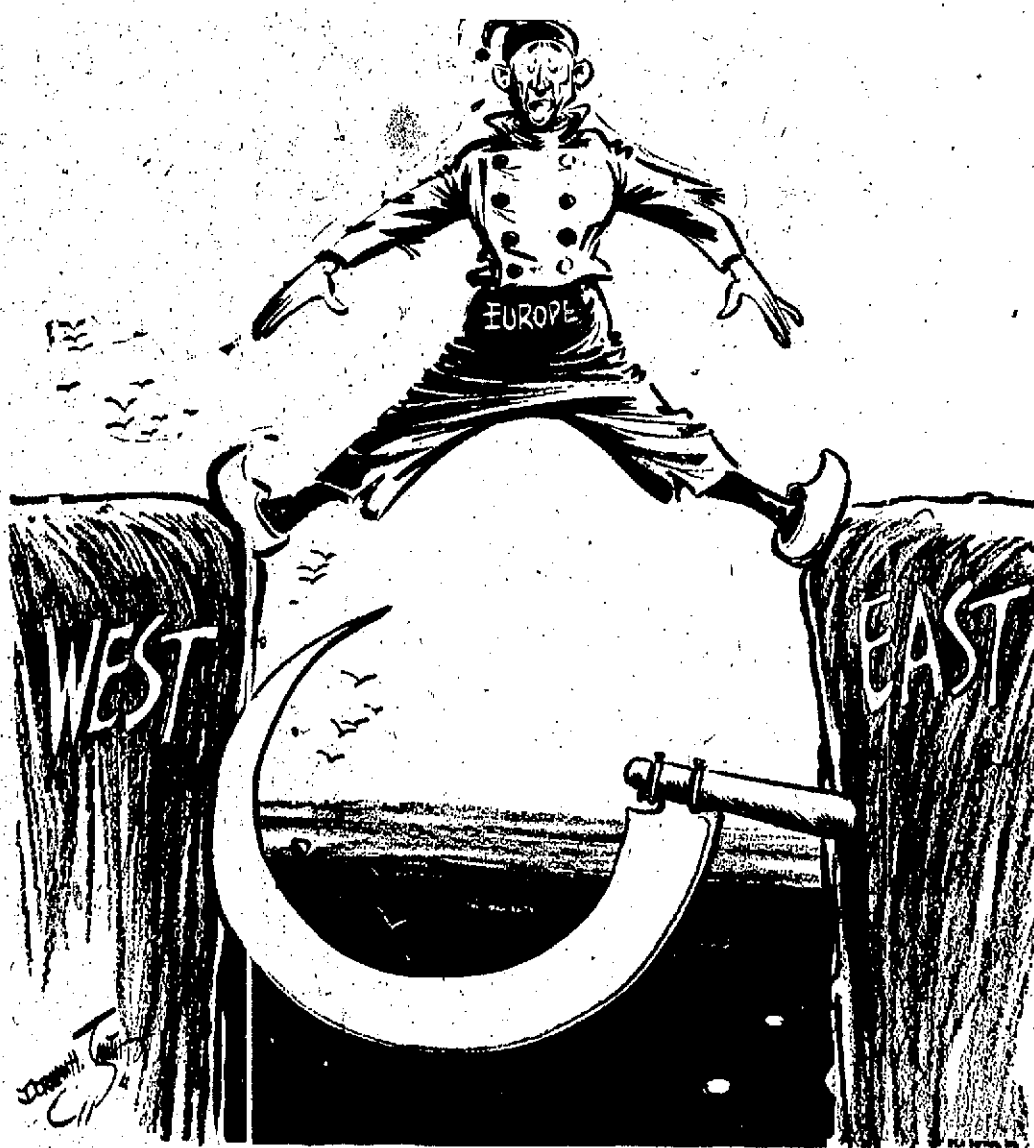

Neurosis—believing you have a physical ailment when none exists—is becoming increasingly common. Send today for Dr. Barton's booklet on this subject entitled, "Neurosis." To obtain it, just send 10 cents and a 3 cent stamp, to cover cost of handling and mailing, to The Bell Syndicate, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, Post Office Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. lished Republican tenure of office.

Nowadays it may be different. The country was prosperous in 1946, and yet turned out the Democrats. Figures published by Business Week emphasize this new departure. Farm income doubled or tripled in Wisconsin, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio and Illinois from 1939 to 1946; yet at every election the farmers have voted Republican, more emphatically as their income rose.

Will Show Watercolors Of Sea in Many Moods

Woodstock, July 19—Sunday, July 20, B. Sturtevant Gardner is informally opening, at her studio home on Meads Mountain Road, an exhibition of watercolors done during her recent trip by freighter, around South Africa with themes from the Panama Canal to the Strait of Magellan. In addition to painting the sea in its many moods, the coast with its variations, the weeks spent ashore furnished inspiration for more paintings. The exhibition will be open afternoons for a month.

Miss Gardner, a native of New York state, has lived outside the United States the better part of seventeen years, traveling and painting in Central and South America, and teaching art in the Canal Zone Junior College. The spirit of the tropical and a foreign atmosphere has invaded her pictures which show a variety of subjects, techniques and mediums. A part of this exhibition, the marine paintings, were shown during the month of April in the Janet Fayer Club in New York. Some of them have also been shown in the large annual art exhibition during American Art Week in the Canal Zone, where over the years she has received several awards. Miss Gardner was also an exhibitor in the University of Trinidad in Trinidad, Peru. A mural by Miss Gardner may be seen on the wall of Bishop Morris Hall, St. Luke's Protestant Episcopal Cathedral, Ancon, Canal Zone.

Friends of France Make Appeal at Exhibit

Woodstock, July 19—An appeal, sponsored by the Woodstock branch of the Friends of France, was made on Thursday evening, when Anita Smith showed her interesting pictures taken on a recent trip abroad, at Twilight Park Club House, for the benefit of the Twilight Park Library.

Mrs. William Y. Boyd, Woodstock, was in charge of the students' adoption program. As a result of her talk, it is learned that the churches in Twilight Park will collect clothing to be donated to this cause. Some donations were also received after the meeting.

Alice Henderson, Woodstock, told those attending the conditions as she and Miss Smith found them during their recent travels through France.

Wendell Jones Heads Artist Stockholders

Woodstock, July 19—At the annual stockholders' meeting of the Artists' Realty Company Wednesday evening in the Woodstock Art Gallery the following officers were elected: Wendell Jones, president; Mrs. Carl Eric Lindin, vice-president; Sara Middendorf, secretary; and Florence Webster, treasurer. Those elected to the board of directors were Norbert Heerman, Thomas Penning, Wendell Jones, Martin Comeau, Mrs. Carl Eric Lindin, Mrs. Zulma S. Parker and Mrs. Richard Thibaut.

The newly elected directors met after the stockholders' meeting was adjourned and appointed the committee chairman who are Martin Comeau, finance; Norbert Heerman, house and grounds; Thomas Penning, building.

Many important decisions were made during the meeting, foremost of which was on installing a furnace in the Art Gallery so that it may be kept open during the winter months. To make the gallery more comfortable during the summer months, a fan will be installed from the old building.

One hundred new chairs have also been ordered and it is hoped they will arrive before the next meeting of the Discussion Group scheduled for Sunday evening, July 20. This addition will eliminate the necessity of persons sitting on the floor when such large numbers attend the various meetings held at the Gallery.

The following excerpts from a letter sent by Florence Webster, secretary to the stockholders prior to the annual meeting, describes the background of the Artists' Realty Company, Inc.: "We have been through deep water and it seemed for a time as our Woodstock artists arrived and found their own dealers, that the gallery had served its function and was no longer wanted or needed; but, when it came to actually disposing of the property for another purpose, it was found that both resident artists and townspeople would regret the discontinuance of the gallery and what it means to the community."

The result is that we have a surprising number of new interested stockholders which has helped to furnish funds for needed improvements and the place is again alive and a center of keen interest and attraction.

"Andrew Dasburg has turned back his stock to the treasurer as a contribution to further the maintenance of the gallery. Martin Schutze has turned in shares in the names of Eve Watson Schutze, Mrs. Parker in the name of Neilson T. Parker, Mrs. Lindin some of the stock held by Mr. Lindin and Miss Wardwell, part of her holdings in memory of her brother. Others have indicated a desire to follow. We would like to have stock in the hands of residents and not fall into the hands of brokers for disinterested estates. The stock pays no dividends and probably never will, though it has well covered liquidating value should the property be sold, but this is not likely to happen now as it will tend to become more and more a Memorial Gallery to Woodstock artists and friends."

"We are placing in the gallery a list of donors appropriately designed and giving the names of members of the Artists' Realty Company who turn back stock or that of the person in whose memory such a contribution is made."

The list will be very interesting to the public and reflect the appreciation we have for those who have taken part in creating the gallery. A number of stockholders have generously contributed stock to cover the cost of some of the repairs that had to be made but could not be charged to capital. 155 of the original 200 shares have been sold, leaving 45 unsold to which are to be added 15 shares just returned, making a total of 60 shares with a value of $3,000 available for sale to finance further improvements.

Anyone interested in lending their assistance to this program through the purchase of available stock, may contact the Artists' Realty Company, Inc. for further information.

August 21 has been set as the date for the next meeting of this organization.

Thefts at Woolworth's By Three Children

Police investigation of thefts reported by the management of the F. W. Woolworth store on Wall street revealed that they had been committed by three children, it was learned.

The children gained entrance through a rear basement window, the police said. The oldest of the group was said to be about 11 years old and the others younger. The thefts were reported earlier in the week, and it was indicated that they were more of a petty than serious nature.

Bank Under Guard at Fleischmanns

The Fleischmanns Bank is "under special guard since Delaware county officials started an investigation this week on a communication to New York parties mentioning "robbery."

Although authorities chose to remain silent on the matter, it was learned unofficially that a hotel employee in the vicinity of the bank community was responsible for the bank robbery scare.

State Police at Sidney reported they had no information to make public regarding the case, but admitted that a 19-year-old Bronx resident had been sentenced to 10 days in the Delaware county jail for disorderly conduct after the investigation started.

Pay High in June But Cost of Living Soars to Record

Washington, July 19 (AP)—The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported today that average pay in manufacturing hit a record high of $12.2 an hour for a 40-hour week in June.

At the same time Bureau Director Ewan Clague said rising food prices and rents in the next few months may send the cost of living past the record level of mid-March.

Clague said the manufacturing wage scale in June began to reflect the wage hikes of 10 to 15 cents an hour in basic industries last spring. It was up a nickel an hour over February.

"Real wages"—average earnings weighted against consumer prices—were up 29 per cent from August, 1939, Clague said. The weighted averages were 129.5 per cent of the 1939 level, while the actual average weekly earnings were 205.8 per cent above the pre-war period.

The B.L.S. director predicted that the record total of 60,000,000 jobs of all kinds reported by the census bureau last week probably will continue through September at least.

The most spectacular development in employment, Clague reported, was an unusual spurt in construction of new permanent homes.

Usually the peak is reached in May, but Clague said that about 75,000 new dwellings were started in June, an increase of 2,500 over the postwar record set in May this year. This was more new permanent houses than were started in any month since the boom days of the 1920's, he said.

Peck of the Appellate Division of the State Supreme Court; Dudley Swim, former New York investment banker and now of Idaho, and Archie G. Dawson, who investigated conditions of sanitation at Creedmore State Hospital, Long Island, for the governor a few years ago.

Peekskill Hurler Hands Dodgers First Home Shutout, 7 to 0

Fancell Bests Hank Neighbors With 2-Hitter, Faces 29 Men

Ray Fancell, rangy Peekskill right hander, turned in the top 1947 performance by an enemy hurler in municipal stadium last night, blanking the Dodgers, 7-0, with two widely scattered hits.

A crowd of nearly 900 saw the tall fireballer subject the Dodgers to their first shutout at home in a brilliant exhibition in which he faced only 29 batters.

Fancell struck out four men, and issued one pass. Manager George Scherger stroked him for a ground single into right field in the second and Hank Neighbors lined a single into left field in the sixth.

Neighbors won the third game in thirteen decisions as the Kingston lead over the Dodgers, which was shaved to 5-4 games.

A group of Dodger executives headed by Oscar Roettger, minor league farm chief of the Dodgers, was reported headed for the stadium to give the North Atlantic League an official looksee. They didn't arrive, which was okay with Business Manager Paul Taylor and "Sugar" Scherger. They wouldn't have seen anything on which to build future Ebbets Field dreams—not last night, anyway.

Errors Hurt

Neighbors wasn't sharp as usual and loosely played first inning settled his fate quickly and mercifully. Four of the Peekskill runs were outright gifts but nobody has yet devised a system whereby a game can be won without runs and Mr. Fancell just wasn't going any away last night. Oh yes, they might have sneaked in a forfeit.

The Dodger ace was in trouble at the outset, walking leadoff Bantaglia on four straight pitches. Lukasik bashed a single over second, Long Tola led off the third with a single, and Fancell pitched a perfect game.

Peekskill's second tally was legitimate enough. Ragusa, a weak hitting catcher, at the Highland bench by ramming a triple to deep right center and scoring on Bantaglia's single.

Hits by De Tola and Kropf coupled with an infield out produced Peekskill's fifth run in the third and then came the coup de grace in the fifth. Neighbors had two outs with runners on second and third when the pestiferous Ragusa lifted a seemingly harmless fly to short left center. Kerr and Andy Belick, the new outfielder, charged toward the ball and at the last moment Belick, who had just been charged with a single scoring two runs while the two red faced outfielders went back to their respective positions.

Wiss Seventh
Fancell, in achieving the victory of such heroic proportions—Peekskill's first here this season and the first kaloskimo job against the Dodgers—turned in a masterpiece. When he singled Bantaglia away in the second and Kropf forced him for the third out, Williams walked with two out in the fourth. Neighbors got the second hit to lead off the sixth but suffered an embarrassing moment when he reared after Kerr, who had just been charged with a single scoring two runs while the two red faced outfielders went back to their respective positions.

Make for Good Fishing
Morehead City, N. C., (AP)—German submarines sank more than 40 ships off this part of the North Carolina coast during the war, and these weeks now are providing superior fishing areas. The sunken hulks have become shrouded with grasses and other marine vegetation. Small fish and crustaceans have found them good feeding grounds. Big game fish, in turn, have been drawn by the abundance of these smaller fish on which they feed. Fishermen now report finding giant amberjack, dolphin, chub, bonita, albacore and many other species in greater numbers than ever before.

Keller, Operated On, May Get Into Series

New York, July 19 (AP)—Charley Keller, the slugging Yankee outfielder whose back "misery" kept him out of the Bombers' 19-game victory drive, may be in uniform by World Series time.

The 30-year-old Keller is recuperating at New York Hospital for Special Surgery after undergoing an operation for the removal of a ruptured spinal disc. A physician, who preferred to remain anonymous, said "he'll be in the hospital for two weeks and should recover in six to eight weeks."

The operation, performed by Dr. Thomas Hoen, noted neurological surgeon, revealed that the ruptured vertebrae disc was causing an intense sciatic nerve irritation. One doctor said that had not the damage been repaired in time, Keller would have become a cripple for life.

Eddie Giosa Upsets Fusari in Garden

New York, July 19 (AP)—Eddie Giosa, clever little left hook specialist seldom wins in his home town of Philadelphia; in New York he can't lose. It seems.

Eddie, who has won nine straight in St. Nicholas Arena and on the undercard at Madison Square Garden, made his multi-event debut at the Garden last night and upset Charley Fusari, highly-touted Irvington, N. J., welterweight, in 10 rounds. Giosa weighed 137 1/2, Fusari 144 1/4. The setback was the second in a row for Fusari, who had piled up 48 straight victories until he was beaten by Tony Pellone a month ago.

Fast Ball Artist Boosts Strikeout Total to 86

Jackie Watzka, the East Kingston fireballer didn't disappoint the huge City League crowd that jammed the Athletic Field looking for a strikeout carnival yesterday, when Stauble's Bakery tangled with the 7-Up.

Young Jackie poured his fast ball past 14 Seven-Ups, yielded only five hits and racked up his fifth victory against three defeats. He 86 Strikeouts

Watzka continued his amazing strikeout pace to boost his season total to 86 for the season including 39 in the last three games. He contributed a run producing double in the 11-hit Bakery assault on Harry Secreto, 7-Up's perennial curber.

Stauble's broke the bank in the first inning, racked up five runs with one hit. Schryver walked and Olen doubled to right center putting men on second and third. Red Sleight's single scored Schryver and Olen for a 2-1 Stauble lead. A walk, fielder's, Joe Dulin's single and a double by Watzka accounted for three more tallies.

Score in First
Seven-Up scored quickly on Lou Secreto's single and two successive errors. The soda-pop toppers picked up two more tallies in the third. Lou Secreto led off with his second single but was forced at second by Mottey. Szekeres singled sending Mottey to third from whence he scored on DeCicco's one baser. The latter went to second on the throw and Olen singled with the bases loaded to score two Stauble markers in the sixth and the eighth marker crossed on Sleight's third safety of the game.

Sleight poled three singles in four trips to pace his team, while Felipe and Olen had two hits each. Lou Secreto collected two of the five 7-Up safeties.
